Course #1: Foundations of Clinical Education

Clinical instruction is a vital component of the education of audiology and speech-language pathology students. Through high-quality and dynamic readings, multimedia offerings, and reflective activities, participants will gain a richer understanding of the role of clinical education in graduate programs, with specific emphasis on the role of quality clinical instruction and clinical instructor/student relationships.

ASHA CEUs
The materials are at an introductory to intermediate level. Continuing education units are available through ASHA.
