Approximately 70% of faculty use Brightspace consistently. It's recommended that faculty use the Brightspace gradebook and that they remain accessible for up to 5 years. Gregory Hustak commented on the student experience and stated that having assignments accessible as well as clear locations for assignment submission is key. Katelyn commented on the usefulness of the gradebook as well as the difficulty of navigating courses without Brightspace. Gregory Dieringer asked about the implementation of mainstream video streaming technology, and Katelyn Frey commented on several issues she's had from the student perspective navigating across several platforms. Jennifer suggested recommending to the faculty the benefits of singularly using the Teams platform. Katelyn asked about the possibility of getting rid of "@zips.uakron.edu" for students and pointed out several issues, and Kathryn Cerrone & Jennifer Manista mentioned that this would be brought up at a future UC meeting. Jennifer suggested writing a list of recommendations for faculty to promote use of Teams & mainstreaming the use of Brightspace, and Gregory suggested we reach out to DDS for tips as well as obtaining data on faculty use of these platforms. Kathryn suggested creating a folder in Teams for committee members to collectively add their ideas for benefits of mainstreaming technology use via Brightspace. Gregory mentioned that John suggested he present on the CCP program for the December meeting, and Katelyn mentioned that she will have 1-2 documents with results from the GSG surveys on graduate student well-being uploaded into Teams by the next meeting.
