

Student Engagement and Success Committee Annual Report May 1, 2017 – August 31, 2018

Current Goals:

(Submitted to UC in September 2017)

Goal/Metric	Accomplished	In Progress	Not Accomplished
Continue working with Communication Committee to exam texting and other possibilities to improve communication of important information to students (i.e. enrollment dates, financial aid deadlines, etc.).	X
Encourage use of “Help A Zip” by faculty and request feedback to that faculty member.	X
Develop communication to faculty to encourage use of “Class Roster Verification” link on class roster to report students who have never attended or have stopped attending throughout each semester.	X
Examine central unit advising system and other advising models to determine most successful delivery practices regarding registration, academic advising, and mentoring, and the role faculty and advising play in retention and student success.	X (Advising was decentralized. Units will be assessing the impact of embedding advisers in colleges)

What were your top two successes?

1. Creating a comprehensive memo to faculty outlining low-cost, low-effort tools available to help student retention and persistence.
2. Complete responses to two topic submissions, one extensive submission regarding the campus climate for the LGBTQ community and one regarding the use of analytics for student success.

What were your top two challenges?

1. Communication is a persistent challenge. The channels for collecting and disseminating information are not always clear and not always consistent.
2. Balancing committee work with other work responsibilities continues to be a challenge as both faculty and staff continue to deal with personnel and budget cuts. Committee members are engaged and committed to the committee charge, but peak times come at different times for different members, and the work of the committee may not be a top priority for all members at the same time.
